The following text is for questions 25 to 27.

I think my first trip to New Zealand was the best experience of my life. I met quite a lot of people there. I made acquaintance with Jenny, Harry, Joseph, Rexi and Bryan. They introduced me to their families. We had barbeque times in Rexi’s and Joseph’s house. Joseph and Jenny are brother and sister while Rexi and Bryan are twins.

You can find sheep almost everywhere in New Zealand. The tranquil meadow where the sheep graze always appears in my mind every time I go to sleep. Jenny’s father has a lot of sheep and he showed me his wool cutting machinery, which he uses to collect the sheep’s fur before processing it into wool thread.

For some people touring is a relaxing experience. Yet, for me it is completely the opposite. I had to spend time more than 24 hours in the same clothes with greasy hair and 3 hours of sleep. I would rather have traveled from Auckland to Milford Sound in more easy way. We could have spent a night or so in a hotel, not in our vehicle. However, having a bunch of friends along the way parked me up. It makes me want to come back to New Zealand again.

   E. The writer tried collecting sheep’s fur in New Zealand.

Giraffe is the highest animal in the world. Its height can reach 4.8 to 5.5 meters and its weight about 1360 pounds. Giraffe has a unique characteristic. They have a very long neck and two small horns on its head. Giraffes have big brown eyes and protected by thick and long eyebrows. Her body is covered with a unique pattern that is attached by brown spots all over their body. Just like camels, giraffes can survive without drinking for long time because giraffes can rely on the water contained in leaves they eat. Giraffes are very selective in choosing food. They always eat young leaves that grow in the tree tops. Their tongue that is shaped like a knife helps them to cut branches which are very hard. Female giraffes can start to be pregnant at the age of five years, with a gestation period of 15 months. Commonly a female giraffe bears one baby, but sometimes two babies at once. Giraffes bear their baby with a standing position. When the baby is about to be born, they just drop it to the ground from a 1.5 meter of height. The following text is for questions 31 to 34.

Lunar eclipse is a natural event that is common to many people. Lunar eclipse can be observed with the naked eye and is not dangerous. And it can occur not in long time, it is about 5 until 6 hours. Events of lunar eclipse can be explained scientifically based on science. It occurs when part or all parts of the moon surface are covered by the shadow of the earth. Lunar eclipse can only occur during a full moon. What causes eclipses and why?

Lunar eclipse occurs when part or all parts of the moon surface are covered by the shadow of the earth. There are two types of shadow, penumbra and umbra. Umbra shadow is a totally dark shadow and penumbral shadow is a dim shadow. Lunar eclipse occurs when the earth’s position is in the middle between the sun and the moon on the same straight line, so that sunlight cannot reach the moon because it is blocked by the earth.

In other words, a lunar eclipse occurs when the moon is in opposition to the sun. But because of the slope of the field of the moon’s orbit to the ecliptic plane at 5°, then not every moon opposition to the sun will result in the occurrence of a lunar eclipse. The intersection of the fields of the moon’s orbit to the ecliptic plane will bring 2 pieces of cut points called nodes. It is the point at which the moon cuts the ecliptic plane. This lunar eclipse will occur when the moon is in opposition to the node. The moon needs 29.53 days to move from one point to other opposition points. So, if there is a lunar eclipse, is should be followed by a solar eclipse because both nodes are located on the line connecting the Sun to the Earth.

Actually, in each month, there is a possibility of lunar eclipse occurrence. It is due to sun rays that are deflected in the direction of the moon by the earth’s atmosphere. And most of the deflected beam has a red light spectrum. That is why at the time of a lunar eclipse, the moon will appear dark, copper red, orange, or brown.

31. What does the text mainly tell about?

The following text is for questions 35 to 38.

Nowadays, many people realize that agriculture is much more important than other supporting tools in economic development. In Indonesia, agriculture should be the priority of development for good reasons.

First, the agriculture’s contribution in the beginning of the development of the country was the highest of all sectors. At present, almost half of the total of Indonesia laborers work in the agriculture sector, but the contribution of the agriculture sector does not reach 30 percent.

Second, the agriculture sector is expected to fulfill the need for food in the country. As the population increases at an alarming rate each year, food supply must also increase but the agricultural production per capita never increases more than one percent each year and in extreme cases, it is stagnant.

Last but not least, without agricultural development, the growth of the industrial sector will be hampered because the growth that comes from industry will create a wider gap to the internal economy in that country. In turn, this gap will create serious poverty problems, wider inequality of income distribution, and increased unemployment.

It is, therefore, obvious that the government should make agriculture the priority of national development.

35. What is the topic of the text?
   A. Agriculture
   B. Government priority
   C. Economic development
   D. Agricultural development
   E. Agriculture’s contribution

36. What is the main idea of the third paragraph?

   C. The agriculture sector is hoped to fulfill the need of food.
   D. The agriculture’s contribution is for the development of the country.
   E. The agriculture is more important than other supporting tools in economic development.
37. Why is the agriculture sector expected to fulfill the need for food in the country?
   A. The agriculture is important in the economy.
   B. Agriculture sector never increases each year.
   C. The agriculture is one of the supporting tools in the economy.
   D. The agriculture is the priority of national development.
   E. The population in Indonesia increases rapidly from year to year.

38. “Nowadays, many people realize that agriculture is much more important…” (Paragraph 1)
   The underlined word is closest in meaning to…
   A. show prestige
   B. become aware
   C. believe
   D. make perfect
   E. bear in mind

The following text is for questions 39 to 42.

Nuclear power is generated by using uranium, which is a metal, mined in various parts of the world. The first large-scale nuclear power station was opened at Calder Hall in Cumbria, England, in 1956.

Some military ships and submarines have a nuclear power plant for engines. Nuclear power produces around 11% of the world’s energy needed and produces huge amounts of energy. It causes no pollution as you’d get when burning fossil fuels.

The advantages of nuclear are as follows:
1. It costs about the same as coal, so it’s not expensive to make,
2. It doesn’t produce smoke or carbon dioxide, so it doesn’t contribute to the greenhouse effect,
3. It produces huge amounts of energy from small amounts of uranium,
4. It produces small amounts of waste,
5. It is reliable.

On the other hand, nuclear power is very, very dangerous. It must be sealed up and buried for many years to allow radioactivity to die away. Furthermore, although it is reliable, a lot of money has to be spent on safety because if it does go wrong, a nuclear accident can be a major disaster.

People are increasingly concerned about this. In the 1990’s nuclear power was the fastest growing source of power in many parts of the world. In 2005, it was the 2nd slowest-growing.

39. Why is nuclear power very dangerous?
   A. It can cause a major disaster.
   B. Uranium is renewable.
   C. It is reliable.
   D. It is cheap.
   E. It is safe.
40. What is the main idea of the third paragraph?
   A. The usage of nuclear power.
   B. Nuclear power is very dangerous.
   C. The disadvantages of nuclear power.
   D. Nuclear power can be a major disaster.
   E. The advantages and disadvantages of nuclear power

41. We can infer from the text that ....
   A. nuclear power is cheaper to make
   B. nuclear power causes air pollution
   C. nuclear power affects the greenhouse
   D. nuclear power produces big amounts of energy
   E. nuclear power can be used for some military and submarine energy

42. Why does the nuclear power last long?
   A. It can be buried and sealed for many years.
   B. It costs about the same as coal, so it’s not expensive to make.
   C. It produces huge amounts of energy from small amounts of uranium.
   D. It produces small amounts of energy from small amounts of uranium.
   E. It produces small amounts of waste.

The following text is for questions 43 to 45.

Harry Potter

I’ve loved this series. I’ve had a few issues with it, but it was mostly formula things that are not unique to Harry Potter. Chief of those complaints is that adults are either actively neglectful or antagonistic to the hero children. If an adult is supportive of them, they are generally powerless characters or characters that are publicly labeled as ‘bad’ people like Hagrid or Sirius. Again, this is nothing new. Think about The Wonderful Wizard of Oz: 100th Anniversary Edition (Books of Wonder). The same thing happens there.

Regardless, the series is a LOT of fun. I’ve read each one straight through like most everyone else on here. I’ve been to every movie. I’ve even gotten supplemental books. I think it’s a great story for any age readers. I love the fact that it addresses lots of issues that most ‘children’s books’ tend to avoid, like death and Harry’s relationship with his guardians. I think these could easily be used to help bring up all sorts of great conversations with children above and beyond discussions of Harry and Hogwarts.

Now, this book. I was sad to see the series end, but really respect the fact that Rowling had a vision for 7 years of school and 7 books…and stuck with it. Maybe future books may come out, but it doesn’t look like it. That’s really great of her for not compromising for a buck. Everything pretty much gets tied up in this final novel, but that’s really my only problem with it. Everything gets tied up. In order to do that, some things ended up feeling a little forced. I’m glad we didn’t get left wondering “but what about…” but some of the resolutions left me feeling a bit unsatisfied. Still, there’s lots of action, plenty of adventure, and will thrill anyone who’s been following Harry, Ron, and Hermione.
43. What is the main idea of the third paragraph?
   A. Rowling had written 7 books.
   B. The Series of Harry Potter novel end.
   C. Rowling had a vision for 7 years of school.
   D. Everything pretty much got tied up in this final novel.
   E. Rowling future books might come out, but no similarity.

44. According to the reviewer, the book is a great story for ….
   A. Hogwarts
   B. Most children
   C. any age readers
   D. Harry’s relation
   E. Harry’s guardians

45. Based on the last paragraph, we can conclude that the writer was ….
   A. sad
   B. glad
   C. great
   D. unsatisfied
   E. stuck with it
